Other Items:

Well, the inevitable is occurring in the form of our first significant snow event of the season. Our crews are hard at it. Around 11:00 am I visited the DPW garage and was pleased to note that there were no snow-fighting vehicles being serviced or repaired (with the exception of some prep maintenance on our two sidewalk plows as they were readied for service). That's a positive reflection on our ongoing capital replacement program and the great job Fleet Manager Scott Kenoyer and his mechanics do in keeping the fleet properly maintained.

Of course, there are complaints. We are breaking-in some new employees and every storm seems to pose some unique challenges. We welcome the public's calls and do our best to remedy the circumstances that prompt them.
